Case Analysis Worksheet

This form can be used to organize your thoughts about a case. As you perform your analysis remain open to the fact that your interpretation of the facts may change and therefore you should constantly revisit your answers.

YAKULT

Define the Problem:

Yakult must discover a way to proceed in a market that has narrowed and in international markets has been marred by false or misleading claims, similarly the markets operate very differently to the Japanese domestic market as yakult has sizeable competitors, most notably the Danone group; this group has retained its market holdings to a degree and has invested in yakult to force its holding groups representation on the board. The issue should be how they will approach new markets. The company has a viable competitive advantage in the fact that it has the science and reputation to back up its claims in what is an industry of 'ambiguous' health achievements by products.

Make sure you include all the elements of a corporate mission (p.53 of text) and which perspective of the profitability versus responsibility paradox is most pertinent to Yakult's mission and vision (page 70 of text)?

List any concepts that can be applied:

The Business strategy models apply to this case as the inside out perspective of this model has direct relation. The stock of assets (the product) and the ongoing research is the 'golden goose' and already exists within the company, the value activities and the avenues that yakult decides to approach international markets will determine the success. The activities o the domestic market could not be recreated on an international scale however the principles of educating, networking and establishing trust with the customer on a deeper level as seen by the yakult ladies could be the key. Ultimately it is delivering the stock of assets to the market segments.

- Conduct a full Business Systems Model and Drivers of Industry Development and do not leave anything out! Use the 3 and 9 headings respectively and expand the details.
- Where is the analysis of the Value Chain? Try to look more in depth at the value chain as this is integral to understanding where the company has major capabilities which support its main resources and value proposition.
- Use the language of strategy to analyse what is occurring here and to show evidence of your understanding of strategic terms present in the content of the unit
- What is the core competence?
- For extra points discuss possible corporate strategy too?

What is a Sustainable Competitive Advantage (SCA). What is the link for Yakult to business level strategy to provide SCA?
